A Letter of Complaint from
Gov. Pitkin to Sec'y
Schurz.

President Hayes Receives Enthusiastic Reception in Washington Territory.

Denver, Oct. 15. To-night Governor Pitkin telegraphed to Secretary Schurz the freighter's account of the difficulties with the Indians, and says:

"If these statements are true there is not a civilized community in the world that would not thrill with horror and indignation, that a man who had been compelled to kill an Indian to save his own life should be denied the protection of his government and turned over to be tortured and killed by savages. The people of the State desire peace, but they believe this tribe has all the savage instincts of the race; that especially since O'Quay's death they neither fear nor respect the power of the general government; that as long as they remain in the State they are a constant menace to the safety of white men, women and children upon the border.

There have been, year after year, numbers of white people murdered by this tribe, without any effort being made by the general government to punish the guilty parties. Only last year Mr. Meeker and his associates at White River were murdered in cold blood, and none of the murderers have been brought to justice, unless Douglass, who is confined at Fort Leavenworth, was one of them. Jackson, who killed the Indian in self defense, as he claims, was swiftly arrested by the government agent, and while a disarmed prisoner, ready to meet any charges against him, and demanding the protection of the government, was taken away by the tribe and doubtless murdered.

Our people do not believe that the life of an Indian is more valuable than a white man. If the killing of the Indian by Jackson called for such summary action on the part of the officers of the government, then the persons who murdered Jackson ought to be as speedily arrested and held for trial. It was proper to take Jackson to Guntion City for examination before a magistrate, it is equally proper to arrest and take before the same magistrate, the parties who murdered Jackson, and their accessories. The people of the State demand that Jackson's murderers be brought to justice whether they be government officers, private citizens or Indians. If the general government will not take measures to punish the guilty, then the State Court of Guntion County should properly investigate the matter and issue warrants for the arrest of the criminals.

"It will be my duty to furnish all assistance that may be necessary to enforce the process of all courts. I trust that the general government will not use the power of the federal army to protect parties charged with murder from an examination or trial before the courts of the country where the crime was committed. The Governor argues that this portion of the tribe be moved to Uncompahgre river or some point on Grand river remote from the whites and from the road leading to Ouray. Mount Loeble, San Miguel, Ophir and other settlements, which road runs about seventy miles over their reservation, and which was constructed by permission of the President and is the only available route to these towns. He further says that it is stated that on account of Jackson's murder the freighters refuse to take in freight necessary to feed the population during the winter, and unless freight can be taken in work must be suspended on the mines, and the people subjected to the dangers of famine. The people of the state are law abiding and only desire to see the guilt or innocence of these parties determined by the courts. That statement made by the associated press from Washington yesterday, purporting to emanate from the Interior department, that a large class of persons, around the reservation, are endeavoring to bring about a disturbance with the Indians to prevent the consummation of the treaty, is untrue, and that Col. Monypenny, Mr. Meers, Col. Bowman and Mr. Russell, four of the commissioners appointed to carry out the treaty, are in the city, and three of them have been in the reservation and adjoining towns for months past, and he showed them to-day the associated press dispatch and asked them to name one person who had endeavored to bring about a disturbance or prevent the consummation of the treaty. They all replied that they knew of no one against whom the charge could be made.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 15.—An excursion party of thirteen cars, under the auspices of the Business Men's Club went to Mentor to-day to congratulate General Garfield on the result of the October elections. The General made a neat and feeling speech. He greeted them as business men, as citizens of Ohio, and as citizens of our great republic. He advanced the thought that if all the business men of the country could get a guaranty from the Supreme Being that there would be no disturbance for four years, of the great forces that play on the business prosperity of the people, there is nothing they could not and would not undertake to do in that line. Of course such guaranty is impossible but while frosts, pestilence and accident may come, there is a great political organization in this country that can give you safety.

San Francisco, Cal., October 15.—A Kalama dispatch says the President and party arrived yesterday by train from Tacoma and will leave for Astoria in the morning. A delegation of Paya'dup Indians waited on the President with the request that he allow them to retain their lands. The President agreed to consider their proposition and sent them away satisfied.

San Francisco, Cal., October 15.—An Astoria dispatch says the wide West left Kalama at 5:30 this morning, but a heavy fog soon came on and she stopped some time at Cathlamet. Astoria at 11:30. A boat lay along side the city putting on board the committee of welcome. Several hundred people were on the dock and cheered enthusiastically. The President went immediately to the Occidental, passing through files of school children and under an arch bearing the word "Welcome." Upon the arrival at the hotel a large number of ladies welcomed Mrs. Hayes and the ladies of the party. Addresses of welcome were delivered and the President, Secretary Ramsey and General Sherman followed with addresses to the crowd. The party re-embarked on the Wide West and started down to Fort Curby where commander Gorham and his officers tendered the party a cordial greeting. After a visit to the light house the party went to Fort Stevens on the Oregon side commanded by Major Throckmorton who with his wife joined them at Astoria. At 6 p. m. the party were entertained by the citizens in a banquet at the Occidental.

Chicago, Illinois, October 15.—Mr. Moody said to an interviewer to-day that he and Mr. Stanley had been contemplating a visit to the Pacific coast since 1877. In answer to urgent invitations they intend to work in the churches and not in any large tabernacle.

New York, Oct. 15.—Everything is booming again on Wall street; stocks, bonds, and government securities, all advanced sharply. Prices higher than for a year.

The Heavens.

The October moon falls on the 17th when, according to the law of averages we may hope for clear weather, as the full moons of July, August and September were obscured or hidden by clouds. The new moon of the 3d is in conjunction with Mars on the 4th, and with Mercury on the 5th. She is also near Venus on the 5th, and crescent moon and planet will be fair to see. The full moon will be in conjunction with Jupiter on the 17th and with Saturn on the 18th, at the time of opposition. The waning moon is near Uranus on the morning of the 29th.

Then the October nights will afford a grand opportunity to study the stars. The oppositions of Jupiter and Saturn show two prominent planets under peculiarly favorable conditions for observation, as well as in their brightest phase. Astronomers will not be idle in taking notes, and it may be that the world will be electrified by some brilliant discovery like that of the moons of Mars in the opposition of 1877. According to mathematical graduation there should be more moons to be discovered in Saturn's retinue, for if the earth has one Mars two, and Jupiter four, Saturn should have sixteen. A few more moons for Saturn, or an additional ring, or a fresh spot on Jupiter, giving a peep of his interior beneath his twenty thousand-mile-deep blanket of clouds, would nobly immortalize the eventful year of 1880.

—Capt. Davidson returned yesterday from the White Oaks, with a wagon load of mineral specimens. We examined some very fine appearing rock, the celebrated white carbonates, carrying silver.

Eaton says that persons of fine manners "make their own terms every moment; and speak or abstain, take wine or refuse it, stay or go, sit on a chair or sprawl with children on the floor, or stand on their head, or what else soever in a new and original way." So in conversation; new and piquant and original forms of expression are always interesting, and the utmost freedom from restraint is one of the elements of fine and captivating address. But all this does not prevent our noticing the unpleasant effect produced by certain inappropriate and unbecoming expressions which in many young persons greatly mar an otherwise pleasant conversational gift. One of these is the constant use of superlatives.

This Company has acquired the exclusive right to use and sell, and license others to use the improved DRUMMOND ROCK-BORING machinery within the Territory of New Mexico with the exception of Grant county.

By the use of these drills only can mines of gold be penetrated to a depth of one thousand feet or upwards through solid rock, vertically or horizontally, and

Perfect Samples of Mineral
Taken out the entire distance. These samples as obtained are not disintegrated fragments of rock but continuous solid cylinders, showing clearly the stratification and character of the material bored through. The great value of these drills, and this method of prospecting is obvious and most apparent.
